Update on the Durango trip

- The wild ride for the folks on the Durango rafting trip started before we even left town! Within a week of us leaving for Durango, we got a call that the river was running really fast and was extremely high due to a late snow melt. They were going to close the Upper Animas to rafting and everyone was going to ride the Lower Animas. This would normally be a Class III/IV ride, but was designated a Class IV/V due to the flow. We took it in stride and laughed at Mother Nature for trying to ruin our trip! But a few days before the trip, another call came in and the entire Animas River would be closed with the exception of the part nearest town. We were being offered rafting on another river that is normally the family rafting trip, but was now a Class IV+. This split the group, with some opting to play it a bit safer on the Raft and Rail (now a Class IV) and others doing the IV+ ride. I don't think anyone was disappointed!
- Some of us started our trip on Wednesday seeing the beautiful Mesa Verde Cliff Dwellings. Interestingly, the great, great grandfather of our own Brett Wetherill discovered the Mesa Verde Cliff Dwellings while riding horseback through the area. We loved our little Retro Inn, with Elvis and his camper trailer out front. After our tour, we headed on over to Durango to meet up with the rest of the gang. Let the vacation begin.
- Happy hour Thursday evening was great, giving everyone a chance to meet each other and talk about what everyone was doing Friday. Over half the group got up early to experience the thrills of ziplining across the beautiful Colorado mountains. New member Betty Oliver headed over to Mesa Verde for her own tour. Betty Bogart opted for some relaxation with a massage. That afternoon, we met up for lunch, then some did some shopping or bar hopping, while others of us rode out to a beautiful lake and explored the area hoping to find a waterfall one of the locals mentioned. When we realized the hike to see the waterfall was about 20 miles, we all agreed it was best saved for another trip.
- Saturday morning, we got up early and split into our rafting groups. Michael Mathis opted for a day-long guided mountain bike ride and saw some beautiful back country. For those of us who opted for the "easier" ride, we had plenty of whitewater for an adrenaline rush. However, the group who opted for the Upper Piedras got the real adrenaline rush with a full day of rafting. After a short lunch break in Silverton, the rest of us hopped on the rail for our scenic ride back to town. Dinner was exceptional with some of us opting for elk, others selecting the salmon and others grabbing a variety of yummy foods. Tracy Friese and Patty Kelly followed up with a nightcap at a local bar, but the rest of us headed home for our early trip back home Sunday.
- What an awesome, awesome trip!! And what wonderful folks to travel with. Not one person complained with all the changes we experienced, and everyone added to the fun experience of this trip! Some solid friendships were made as well. Even the young 'un, Nicole White, had a great time, and I think we'll see her again (even if she didn't get it when I talked about Hotel California!!!).

ICELAND - LAND OF ENCHANTMENT

waitlist available

October 7-15, 2017
9 days, 8 nights

Called one of the most beautiful places on earth!

Iceland, a Nordic island nation, is defined by its dramatic volcanic landscape of geysers, hot springs, waterfalls, glaciers and black-sand beaches. Though not part of the continental mainland, the country is considered Nordic European. The name of the country—Iceland—may not be that appropriate: although 10% of Iceland is covered by glaciers, it has a surprisingly mild climate and countless geothermal hot-spots and hot springs. Owing to the warming effect of the Atlantic Gulf Stream, Iceland enjoys a maritime temperate climate and the average temperature in winter is around 46°F for a high and 36°F for a low.

Iceland is a country of sharp contrasts. A place where fire and ice co-exist. A country where insular existence has spurred a rich and vibrant culture. Our tour will allow you to see it all: volcanoes, glaciers, geysers, waterfalls, fjords and so much more!

Enjoy Iceland with an intimate group of 28, traveling the country, seeing the best of the best that nature has to offer!

The Northern Lights are best seen between late September to March, so we'll have a good chance to see them, and will do all we can to maximize that chance!
